TASTING

Is an intense wine with violet nounces and black borders. It possesses aromatic notes of berries and perfect combination of vanilla and coffee, very well balanced with a touch of tobacco, and a final taste of butter produced by the aging in French oak staves. These components make this wine a unique exponent of the variety.

In the mouth, it's distinguished by its high volume body, with sweet tannins accompanied by a great intensity of aftertastes that make this variety really pleasant to perceive. In short, it's a great wine, worthy of being evoked.
